Confirmation off the current housing shortage at Tubatse

There is an ever-increasing influx of people in to the Steelpoort area due to the high rate of mining development. Companies like Anglo Platinum, Impala Platinum, Boynton, ASA Metals, Avmin and Xtrata are currently either looking at developing new mining possibilities or expanding current operations. This has resulted in a situation where the demand for houses is far greater than the current availability of houses.

Due to the above mentioned and the expansion of our own activities, Samancor has run into a serious housing shortage. The company is therefore considering making property available for further housing development by a property development company within the current company village. We would further support any housing development that is adjacent to the village, which is developed by a property development company.
